

Historical society of Princeton

In conjunction with

Shree Padma Nrityam Academy of Performing Arts
(SPNAPA) Princeton

Presents

“Garland of pearls from Great Composers”

A grand Indian Classical Dance – Bharata Nrityam

Symposium cum performance

By

Bala Devi Chandrashekar

(Senior disciple of Dr Padma Subrahmanyam)

Prof. Indira V. Peterson

(Chair, Asian Studies Program, Mount Holyoke College)

Prof. Patricia Mayer

(Chair, Dept. of Dance, Mason Gross School of Art, Rutgers University)

January 27th 2007

Venue: John Witherspoon Middle School, Princeton

4:00-4:30pm – Exhibits

4.45 – 5:30pm – Symposium

5:45 – 7:30pm – Dance Performance

ADMISSION IS FREE

Garland of pearls from Great Composers is a carefully carved dance presentation from popular and selected works of Great Composers. The great literary heritage carried through the ages has been applauded through dance, which are evidenced by the compositions. The solo and group performance will portray the lofty facets of dance with music, the concept of melody and Rhythm through the rich tradition of Bharata Nrityam. The dance compositions are seamlessly woven to depict visual representation from literary, art history, musical and philosophical context.

This program is funded by New Jersey council for the humanities
& Co-supported by CMANA – Carnatic Music Association of North America
For Further details Call: Princeton Historical society: 609 921 6748

www.princetonhistory.org

www.shreepadmanrityam.org

www.cmana.org

